REPUBLICAN CONVENTIONS.

State Delegate Convention—Clarksburg, May 14. State Nominating Convention—Parkersburg, July 12.

First District Delegate Convention—Clarksburg, May 14. Second District Delegate Convention—Gratton, May 14. Fourth District Congressional Convention—Parkersburg, July 12.

Notice to Republican Clubs of W. Va.

It is important that you send the name of your club, together with the number of members and names of officers, to the secretary of the State League, at Wheeling, immediately. By order of C. D. ELLIOTT, President. JOHN W. KINDLEBERGER, Secretary.

(Republican papers please copy and notice.)

Even After.

Even after it was convicted of printing a silly falsehood the Register kept on being false and silly. Even now it is not done. Observe this: The Intelligencer, with its customary mendacity—the same that has caused it to persistently deny the sending from this city of the managers of certain exclusive Republican interests, of Republican boudoir to certain henchmen in Preston county, even after the principle to the contrary had acknowledged their share in the deal—

If the Register had desired to be fair to its readers it would have given them the benefit of the truth as it came out in the following letter:

"Kingwood, W. Va., April 30, 1896. Hon. Geo. W. Atkinson, Wheeling.

"My Dear Sir:—I notice that the Wheeling Register continues to connect you, as a candidate, with a certain money transaction to which my son was a party, falsely alleged that the money was furnished him for the use in the campaign for the benefit of the Republican party or some of its candidates. I state positively that the money did not come from you directly nor indirectly, nor from any manager or worker of any political party, nor for any political purpose whatever. Yours truly, FRANCIS HEERMANS."

Mr. Francis Heermans stands as well as any man in West Virginia. Unlike the Register, he would not utter or connive at the circulation of a falsehood. The Register has not had the decency to publish this letter or even the substance of it, although the Intelligencer made it public property more than a week ago. It is evident that in the opinion of the Register the kind of thing it likes to tell it well stuck to is better than the truth.

It seems that Colonel "Flintlock" Perry, of Kanawha, is to be made the scapegoat of the Watts Coming Centuries Idea. This won't do. The whole thing bears the autobiographical earmark. Don't rob Brother Watts of anything that is due him.

A Losing Combination.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch has covered the country with inquiries touching the attitude of the several states on the money plank of the Democratic platform. From the replies received there is an apparent majority of fifty-four in the convention in favor of the free coinage of silver. This would not be a great majority, but it would be conclusive.

The friends and followers of the administration fear that free silver will sweep the convention and are doing all they know how to turn the tide. Administration influences are strong in some states, in others hopelessly weak. In West Virginia, for example, the administration, added to the sound money element of the party, is not strong enough to resist the onset of the free silver forces. The white metal will certainly have the support of the majority of the delegation from this state and may have the whole of it.

The adoption of a free silver plank at Chicago will make doubly sure the defeat of the Democratic party in November. It will go before the country wrong on the two great questions of the day, the tariff and the monetary standard, and either position would be enough to insure its defeat. The country demands protection for its industrial life and wants its exchanges made in as good money as there is in the world.

On such a combination as the Democrats seem about to commit themselves to they cannot carry a single state east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac, and so much as they may get beyond those limits will do them no good. They will make no appreciable headway in the great west, and the south will be far from solid. It seems that the Democratic party is plunging headlong into an abyss.

After all the people are the best combine. When they get together there is no withstanding them.

A Stinging Rebuke.

The intelligent and conservative men of the various railway brotherhoods, met to federate their several interests, declined to allow the Eugene Debs outfit to come in. This action will command the respect and confidence of the country. It tells better than words the spirit that is to animate the railway federation. The refusal to have anything to do with the Debs organization is a well deserved rebuke to an organization of lawbreakers whose tactics have no place in a civilized country, much less in a country ruled by the people.

Gang Politics Run Mad.

The Register, which is up to its long ears in the scheme to nominate Mr. Watts for governor, has the nerve to say: "General Watts is already the choice of West Virginia Democrats for governor—Judge Bennett evidently not desiring to stand for governor." This is very much cooler than any weather we have had for the past few days.

How does the Register know that Mr. Watts is already the choice of West Virginia Democrats for governor? In what way has that choice manifested itself? The open letter to Mr. Watts, is still in circulation and the hero of the coming centuries waits for the return.

As to Judge Bennett, while he will not struggle for the empty honor there is an impression that he would accept it. His brother, in a recent interview in the Register, clearly indicated this. That oad, lighted in the Register, is snuffed out by the Register with such scant courtesy as to suggest that something must be accomplished at all hazards. That something is the spontaneous uprising of the party under the banner of Watts. But this is not the worst of it. Why cannot the Register find space for a bare mention of Colonel Clarence L. Smith, of Marion county? He has been much talked of for the nomination. Very strong influences in the party have tried to make it attractive to him.

Colonel Smith has been freely endorsed by the Democratic press of the state, the Register excepted. Why is he coldly ignored? Isn't he as good a Democrat as the Register or Mr. Watts? Hasn't he as much right to consideration—certainly to mention—as Mr. Watts?

The determined effort to crowd off the track Judge Bennett and Colonel Smith to make the way easy for Mr. Watts is about as rank an exhibition of gang politics as could well be imagined. Very likely the pins are well enough set to give Mr. Watts the nomination but why not give it to him with a show of decency?

If Major McKinley were in ill health the second place on the ticket might attract more than it does. Nevertheless it is a very high place and should be filled by a man big enough for the first place.

Political Corporation.

The Register knows of "a very close political corporation which has its headquarters in Ohio county," one of the objects of which is "the promotion of the interests of McKinley and Atkinson in the state." We beg to ask our amiable neighbor whether it finds among West Virginia Republicans any anti-McKinley sentiment worth speaking of.

Doesn't there seem to be a fair working majority in favor of the Ohio man? So far as the Republicans of the state have expressed themselves haven't they seemed to have something of a leaning towards the great champion of protection? Won't they send a solid delegation to the national convention to vote for McKinley?

Has there ever been in this state such an approach to unanimity? On this question are not the Republicans of West Virginia pretty well in line with the Republicans of the country over?

Then as to Atkinson—hasn't he a walkover for the nomination? Haven't counties instructed for him right and left, even at the risk of producing in the Democratic party that tired feeling? Is there any shadow of turning to anybody else? Isn't the harmony among the Republican faithful just beautiful to behold?

If all this be the work of a political corporation it must be one chartered by the Republican people, having its headquarters deep in their hearts, representing their determined purpose, the minister to do their will. Could there be a better way to achieve a result?

General Groveson counts 548 first ballot McKinley votes out of those thus far elected. He says that east of the Allegheny mountains there are twenty more of the same sort not in his table. West Virginia will contribute eight more this week. It is a mighty procession moving on to victory.

The Richmond Dispatch notes that "the papers are already suggesting cabinets for 'President' McKinley." Well, he will have a cabinet, won't he? And certainly he cannot object to suggestions from the great American press.

A Fishing Creek Incident.

Fairmont Index: Rev. J. Engle, presiding elder of the Clarksburg district, held a meeting at Mt. Herman church, Pine Grove circuit, on Knob fork of Fishing Creek, last Sunday, at which the following incident occurred:

Mrs. Aaron Hains, a lady eighty-two years old, was attending the service, which was a class meeting. She gave in her experience, and in doing so stated that her mother had died on her knees in a class meeting. She also stated that it had always been her desire to end her life in a meeting of that kind. After talking a few minutes she took her seat, and Rev. Engle stepped out of the pulpit to shake hands with her. Suddenly she threw back her head, and expired three minutes later. The event caused no commotion, and she was not taken out until after the services.

80 Acres of Farm Land Free.

Or its equivalent in cash will be given to any active wide awake and energetic young farmer, who will sell a section or more of the best farm lands along the lines of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway in South Dakota, at prices ranging from $7 to $12 per acre; one-half cash, balance on time.

This is the opportunity of a lifetime to secure a home, and this offer remains open for sixty days only. Thousands of acres in over twenty counties in South Dakota have been recently opened for settlement, which the railway company is anxious to have disposed of on favorable terms to actual settlers. KNEW THE ROUTINE.

But His Wife Decided Not to Give Him a Chance to Prove It.

From the Detroit Free Press: "John," said Mrs. Bancks, "as you will have to stay in the house until your cold is better, why can't I go over to Chatham and visit sister Jennie?"

"You can," said Mr. Bancks, "with pleasing alacrity. 'And you will run the house?' 'You bet I will. 'You won't run it into the ground?' 'I won't.' 'Well, I'll tell you just what to do each day that I'm away.' 'You don't need to, Mary. I've learned all your methods by heart. I can give you the schedule in half a shake of a lamb's tail.' 'I don't believe you know the first thing,' said Mrs. Bancks, doubtfully. 'Yes, I do, and I'll prove it. I begin the day by beating the new milkman down several cents on a quart, the saying going toward future matinee tickets.' 'John Bancks, I think you're real mean!'

"I will manage to have a day's washing done in half a day. That will go to pleasure rides on the street cars. 'You'll get out of the neighborhood news by going across the street to borrow a pattern from Mrs. Smith. The bread will burn black while I'm away, but you always say that burned bread is wholesome, so that won't matter.' 'Oh, indeed; and what next?' 'I shall then sell $10 worth of old clothes to the ragman for $1.50 and subscribe for the Perennial Encyclopedia, to be delivered in installments, at $1 a volume, for forty years.' 'I am not going away a step,' said Mrs. Bancks, resolutely. 'Any man that's as mean as you is just watching.' And she gave up her visit.

Love in Town.

They had no partings in the wood. No meetings in the lonely lane; Beside the sea they never stood. Not when the sunset came and rain. Their pathway was the busy street; Their trysting place the office stair; And yet I know joy more complete Did never visit rustic pair.

And why should rustic love alone Be decked with all poetic art? These dull, gray city ways are known To be the heart of a nation's heart. The weary workers come and go, The secret of each soul is dumb; Yet still at times a radiant glow Across their wayward lives have come.

And these, my happy lovers, knew Hard toil, small wage, and humble fare; The skies they saw were never blue, But love made gladness everywhere. His step upon the office floor Was sweet to her as robin's song; Her face that passed the open door For him made sunnier than a day long. For him made sunnier than a day long. —New York Truth.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constant scrubbing to cure it, and by constant failure to cure it, incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Company, Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials, Address, F. J. TERRIBLE TRAGEDIES.

In Florida—Four Men are Dead, Three of Them Killed in a Duel.

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 11.—Four men are corpses, two are dying and one is severely wounded as the result of tragedies in the western section of Florida. Three of the victims were killed in a duel about a woman, another was stabbed to the heart by a boy, whose father had been attacked, and the two who are dying were flogged and shot by regulators.

The duel over the woman was fought in Calhoun county, near Blountstown. In that city is the home of Mrs. Johnson, a young widow. Thomas House and Henry Smith have been rivals for the favors of Mrs. Johnson. Several weeks ago the men fought about the woman and Smith was badly beaten. Smith vowed to get even, and Friday he went to Mrs. Johnson's home, accompanied by his brother Thomas and a friend, George Harrison. The three men found House and the widow together. House was ordered to leave. He rose as if to go, but quickly drew two pistols and opened fire.

The Smiths and Harrison were not slow in getting out their guns. Then a fearful duel followed—in the room. House shot fast and straight, and in a few moments the Smith brothers were dead. House fired his last cartridge at Harrison, the bullet breaking his arm. Then House drew a knife and tried to close with his foe, but his foot slipped in the blood and before he could recover Harrison shot him dead. There was a price on House's head, he having previously killed two men, one in south Florida and one in Alabama. The second tragedy occurred in Madison county Friday night. A band of white-cappers took Harry Wilson to the woods and bonus him to a tree. Wilson was then shot and the body left bound to the tree. The victim was found Saturday morning, still alive, but mortally wounded.

After leaving, the whitecappers went to the home of Lucy Murray, took his sixteen-year-old son to the woods and flogged him so that death will occur. The boy's skull was literally cut in strips, and he was unconscious when found.

The last of this bloody series occurred at Greenwood, in Jackson county. Thomas James made a brutal assault on Samuel Winn, an aged man. Winn was knocked down. James was preparing to shoot him. Before James could pull the trigger, however, he was stabbed to the heart by Frank Winn, the sixteen-year-old son of the old man, who slipped up from the rear.

FACE RAW AND BLEEDING.

My little boy was afflicted with Eczema in acute form for a year, during which we tried without success every known remedy. The disorder appeared on the right cheek and was a blister and bloody form. His pillow, mornings, would bear the bloody imprint of the side of his face, while it was impossible to prevent him from scratching his face owing to the itching. Advised to try CUTICURA, I bought a box. The first application was made at night, and it is a fact, that the appearance of the affected parts showed a noticeable improvement the next morning, and, continuing the treatment as a result, my child has as fair and smooth skin as can be found anywhere.
